TORTURING PAIN.

Half This Man's Sufferings Would Have Killed Many a Person, But Doan's Cured Him.

Thousands of grateful people are telling every day how Doan's Kidney Pills cured them of distressing and dangerous kidney and bladder troubles.

Yet other thousands are suffering every day from these same ills. Why? They are either very negligent or very skeptical. Neglect of kidney disorders leads to dropsy, diabetes, Bright's disease and other fatal diseases.

Sincere, honest testimony like the following should convince every skeptic.

A. C. Sprague, stock dealer, of Normal, Ill., writes: "For two whole years I was doing nothing but buying medicines to cure my kidneys. I do not think that any man ever suffered as I did and lived. The pain in my back was so bad that I could not sleep at night. I could not ride a horse and sometimes was unable even to ride in a car. My condition was critical when I sent for Doan's Kidney Pills. I used three boxes and they cured me. Now I can go anywhere and do as much as anybody. I sleep well and feel no discomfort at all."

A. C. SPRAGUE.

A FREE TRIAL of this great kidney medicine which cured Mr. Sprague will be mailed on application to any part of the United States. Address Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y. Sold by all dealers; price, fifty cents per box.

The F. B. Picnic and Sale.

Sept. 14, the ladies circle held a picnic and sale at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Wood and daughter. As a general invitation had been given by noon a hundred or more people were gathered in the beautiful little grove back of the house. Here a fine table had been built by Mr. Wood some forty feet long. With seats made of plank both useful and strong this table was dressed in table cloth white with vases of flowers which made it look bright. A row of banners were placed in the center with apples and pears both juicy and tender, then came sandwich and cake and pies by the score till this fine olden table could not hold any more. Here about one the company were seated with laughter and jest while with food they were feasted. Hot coffee was served as an extra treat with cream and sugar if they wished for it sweet. The dinner came to an end and all could say they had eaten enough to last them that day.

Many came with babies and children, as all ages seemed to enjoy the picnic. John Meserve and Joe Fortier, jr., were present with their phonographs and played many fine selections. A good amount of aprons and other articles were sold, adding a number of dollars to the fund in the treasury.

The circle furnished bananas and hot coffee as a free treat. A vote of thanks were extended to Mr. and Mrs. Peter Wood for their kindness, also to Mr. Meserve and Mr. Fortier for their fine music. At a late hour all returned to their homes saying they had not enjoyed a more pleasant day for the summer, and hope the circle will hold another picnic and sale next year with Mr. and Mrs. Peter Wood.

The Paragraph Pulpit.

BY EDWIN A. RUMBALL.

"Acquaint yourself with Him and be at peace." This does not stand for "mere acquaintance"; instead of meaning less than friendship, the original suggests "familiar friendship." Friendship is not the direct consequence of desire or choice. "Friends" says Emerson, "are self-elected," that is, friendship is the result of character. Friendship with God is dependent not so much on your desire to be the friend of God as on your character which makes you His friend. Thus the man who cries, Come to God, or come to Jesus, is trying to stand a pyramid on its point, unless he has previously emphasized the need of a better character. Evil character forbids acquaintanceship.

The man who only sees the dark side of God's works is not acquainted with God. There is something wrong when all you know of your friend is his evil. "Love thinketh no evil." R. L. Stevenson says, "If you want to know a man's faults ask his friends, but they won't tell you." The friend of God knows all about His dark deeds, but always sees sufficient to send his heart a little farther than his eyes.

One thing is foreign to true friendship —pose. A friend is a person before whom you can think aloud. When you see a man pose in religion you may depend upon it, he is a stranger to God. We pose to a stranger, but we "come out of our shells" to a friend. God is our friend, let us be natural before Him.

BRYANT'S POND.

Death of Orsamus Nute.

Orsamus Nute, whose death was announced recently in New York, was a a native of Woodstock and was for many years prominent in its affairs and progress.

He was born April 14, 1820, on what has been known in the past generation as the Samuel Nute farm, and was the son of Samuel and Betsy (Fickett) Nute, who came from Poland. The Nutes were originally from New Hampshire, where Orsamus Nute's grandfather married Rebecca Wentworth.

They came to Maine and settled in Poland as did many other families of whom the younger generation found their way to the then new town of Woodstock and took up farms.

Early in life Mr. Nute became a teacher in the town schools and was a successful instructor. Later he became a farmer on the old homestead of his father, where for many years he was one of the leading and thrifty farmers of the town. He was much interested in town affairs, and was many times elected as an officer of the town. For nine years he was a member of the school board.

In the sixties he sold out his property in Woodstock and moved to Boston, where he was engaged in various enterprises. For a number of years he had the contract to sprinkle the streets of the city. He retired from active business some twenty years ago.

Mr. Nute married April 13, 1843, Emma Stevens, daughter of Joseph of Norway, by whom he had five children. Mrs. Nute died July 2, 1860, and for second wife he married Lovina D. Davis, daughter of Joseph and Jane (Stevens) Davis of Woodstock. Six children were born to them. His second wife died in 1880.

High Living by "Hook or Crook"—Keeping Order and Peace Between the White and Black—Bottle Cast upon the Water Returned After Many Days—The Captain's Love Affair and Horse Race.

Our duty at Parish Plaquemines was not of a severe nature unless something unusual happened. It was pleasant to have everything our own way, as we generally did, although under orders of Capt. Stanford. He did not call on us during our stay there. Charles (the Irish boy) was taken sick and returned to the regiment, and James Sullivan Davee was detailed to take his place. All three of us, Randall F. Mayberry, Davee and myself were "Yanks" from Maine. During frequent absences of the clerk, LaFayette, it devolved upon me, being corporal in charge, to give out passes and attend to other business of the station.

There was just about money enough taken in each month to pay the clerk's salary, giving us nothing but our pork, hard-bread and coffee to subsist upon, so if we wished for something better we had to get it "by hook or by crook." We took the liberty to help ourselves to anything eatable that grew on Stackhouse's plantation. Sweet potatoes we always had in plenty, syrup also, and any stray pigs found around our quarters were never known to return to their owners. Coons were plenty and "Nigger John," our cook, kept us supplied with that kind of meat. Cow beans grew as weeds among the corn, and we were more than welcome to pick them. Our living was excellent and all things considered this was the most enjoyable period of our whole term of service.

I have heard many stories of wrestling but never heard a person tell of being thrown. Well, we three decided to have a trial of strength to see who was cock o' the roost. LaFayette was the first one to compete with and he had to be taken down twice before he was satisfied. Mayberry was satisfied the first time and Davee gave up without a trial. The two soldiers are living not many miles from me now, and if they deny this story they will receive a challenge to meet me at South Paris and decide the matter for all time.

I was called on one day by the overseer of a plantation to go down the coast twenty-five miles. One of the negroes in his gang, he said, was impudent and insulting and was a mischief-maker among the other field hands. The overseer, who seemed to be partially under the influence of liquor, came with an old rickety wagon sadly out of repair, especially the body of it.

The horse was one of those little Mexican mustangs that could run like a streak of greased lightning, and it was all I could do to hang to the rigging. When right in the height of this torrent of speed the man's revolver dropped from his pocket and went rattling down through a hole in the bottom of the wagon to the ground; so my life was menaced in two ways, one from being wrecked and one from being shot. However, we arrived in an incredibly short space of time at our destination, the home of Messrs. White and Trufant, planters, who told me that their negroes had refused to work longer without pay, and they could not pay them until the sugar cane crop was made into molasses and sold. The slaves were requested to assemble in a large room in the sugar house, which they did, and listened to my words of advice. All seemed to be willing to accept the situation and make the best of it, except one negro who could not be satisfied but would pipe up with a squealing voice every minute or two, finding fault with everything. He was taken along with me the next morning and sent over the river to work on the levee, where he received nothing but his board for his labor. He soon went back to the old plantation and caused no more trouble.

About that time the planters nearest us were troubled by a petty thief, who would enter their plantations and abstract things of small value for which he could obtain money. They called on us to arrest him, which we did, but didn't quite know how it was best to punish him. We found that he had left his money with another negro, and I sent Davee and Mayberry down to get it, which they couldn't do, so they brought the negro himself along. I talked with him calmly at first and tried to induce him to give it up but he would not do so until I threatened to "annihilate" him. That long word "fetched" him, and the money was handed over, a hundred dollars all in one and two dollar bills.

We thought it would be sufficient punishment for the thief as well as compensation to us for our trouble if we took fifteen dollars of it, so we did so and sent him up to the city for the Superintendent of Negro Labor to deal with. The money was also turned over to the superintendent, and probably was all used up in "red tape" as we used to call official business. "Everything was lovely and the goose hung high" in our quarters as long as that money lasted. Doubtless Davee and Mayberry can read much between the lines.

On returning to quarters one day after a few hours absence, I heard sounds of distress from the chamber, some one sobbing aloud. LaFayette said that a planter had brought a negro woman there and requested that she be put in the stocks for being impudent and refusing to work. This, LaFayette had done. I immediately went up and liberated her and after kindly giving her some advice allowed her to start for the plantation. She took her way down the road still weeping, the great tears following each other down her velvety cheeks. If you ever happen to see a nigger cry you will notice that their tears are four times as big as those shed by white persons. It was reported soon after that she was attending to duty all right.

One morning some one called saying that a negro was lying beside the road in a state of unconsciousness. We fixed him a bed and brought him in. The planters usually hired a doctor by the year to make regular trips through a certain section of the country to attend to the negroes. They rode horse-back carrying saddle-bags as the custom was here a hundred years ago. We called in the Parish doctor as he was passing next day and he pronounced the old negroe's case one of congestion of the brain.

On the fourth day he passed away as easily and peacefully as a baby goes to sleep. Poor old fellow! no one ever took the trouble to inquire for him. He must have seen more than sixty years of slavery, and just as the morning of freedom began to dawn his spirit passed out into the "great beyond," where, let us hope, "Black and white, and bond and free, Meet in blessed equality."

We cared for him to the best of our ability the few days that he was with us, and attended to the burial of the remains, feeling that we had only done our duty to one of the Great Father's children.

The old saying that "Satan always has mischief for idle hands to do" is exemplified in the following little incident. One day, while walking leisurely along the bank of the great Mississippi, I espied an empty bottle with a good cork lying on the ground, and just for fun took a piece of paper from my pocket and wrote on it an account of the wreck of the "Ship Felix;" inclosed it in the bottle, tightly corked it and threw it far out into the water. It was in the winter of 1863. In the fall of 1904 I read in the New York World of a bottle being found floating on the water off the New England coast, containing a slip of paper which gave an account of the wreck of the "Ship Felix," no name signed or date given. Doubtless that was the identical bottle that was thrown in the river 41 years before and had travelled 2,000 miles or so at the mercy of winds and waves.

The Provost Marshall was a genial, good-hearted fellow, so well liked by the planters of the two parishes that they clubbed together and presented him with a splendid bay stallion, a racer. Besides being gentlemanly in appearance and most agreeable the captain was a very handsome man. Not far from his office resided one of the most charming young widows of the South. Her husband had lived a dissipated life and died very young, leaving her very rich. The captain became very friendly with her; a natural consequence of environment, and spent much of his time with her. One day a lady from New York appeared at the office and asked to see her husband, the captain. A soldier on duty there told her where he was and she hired him to escort her to the plantation of the beautiful widow. What transpired at the meeting, or whether the captain was overjoyed at seeing his wife we know not. However, she soon returned to New York without creating much disturbance in the affairs of the Nation.

Somewhere beyond the limits of the city there was a race track, where, upon a certain day there was a race and the captain's horse was entered for a trial of speed against others, winning for his owner a purse of $1,600. That evening the sporting men gathered at the St. Charles hotel. Wine flowed freely, and the captain was the centre of attraction. Being a large, powerful man, and sure of his ability to run things in his own reckless way, regardless of all opposition, he smashed everything in the barroom. The company all stood back and watched the work of destruction go on. When no more mischief remained to be done he called for the bill of damages which the landlord brought in at $800. It was promptly paid. Such escapades show the saying to be true that "When rum is in, wit is out." How much his disappointment at the breaking up of his courtship of the beautiful widow had to do with such recklessness I had no means of knowing.

Catarrh is Curable.

Successful Experiments in Abating and Curing This Disease.

Catarrh is an entirely unnecessary disease and should not be tolerated for a single day now that Hyomei is so generally known and has made so many cures in Norway and other towns.

Until comparatively recent times catarrh was thought to be a blood disease and stomach dosing the only treatment. Modern science finally disproved this idea of the cause of catarrh, and found that it was a germ disease and, after many experiments, the remedy was decided to be Hyomei.

Hyomei medicates the air you breathe; it kills the catarrhal germs; it heals the smarting and raw membranes of the passages in the nose and throat; it cures all catarrhal troubles.

As there is life and health in the air in the mountain-tops where the pine forests give off their fragrant and healing balsams, so there is life and health in breathing Hyomei. There is no need of suffering from catarrh if the simple and natural treatment of Hyomei is used.

So sure is this prescription to cure even the worst cases of catarrh, that Frank Kimball, proprietor of the Noyes Drug Store, sells it under an absolute guarantee to refund the money if it does not do all that is claimed for it. 38-39.

BAD ROADS IN ILLINOIS.

To Better Them State Will Make Use of Its Convicts.

Convicts of Illinois are assisting in the construction of hard roads by running stone crushers that have recently been installed at both the Joliet and Chester penitentiaries, says a Bloomington special to the New York Evening World. At the former the output is about 400 cubic yards per day, filling eleven of the largest cars. It is planned to increase the output shortly to twenty cars per day.

Any county or township that will undertake to build hard roads will be given all they want of this crushed rock free, the only expense being that of the freight from the penitentiary to the destination. Illinois is said to possess more miles of poor highway than any other state in the west.

The state highway commission has now taken up the question of constructing sample stretches of roads in various counties of the state.

The first plan is to thoroughly tile the road so as to drain off all water. The dirt is then brought to a cone in the center and thoroughly rolled. Three layers of crushed stone of varying size follow, each being rolled in turn. The road is then declared completed.

The Strawberry Bed.

Do not put off the renovation of the strawberry bed any longer. Reduce the widths of rows by the cultivator and pull weeds from among the plants. Then apply a dressing of rich manure, and the vines will make a good growth this fall and enter winter with a large amount of stored up energy for use in the next spring's crop of berries.

Judge and Mrs. Arthur E. Morrison and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Melcher of Rumford Falls were out fishing for fresh water pearls last week. Mr. Melcher found a clam that contained a ten grain stone of fine color and shape valued at $500; Judge Morrison one that was valued at $50.

WEST BUCKFIELD.

A Narrow Escape.

Last Friday evening about 7 o'clock as Dastine Turner accompanied by his wife and sister-in-law, Lucy Yeaton of Auburn, were driving this side of the Prince schoolhouse, his horse shied at a large rock recently hauled to the side of the road and plunged into a hole in the culvert, throwing all three out, then ran away. Mr. Turner first ascertained that the ladies were alive and no bones broken, then he followed the horse. They went to S. M. Bonney's and Mr. Turner and Shirley with a team drove after the horse. They found him 2½ miles away in Fred Record's yard on High street. The rein had caught in the wheel and thrown the horse. Some one had caught him and had him unharnessed when Mr. Turner got there. The horse seemed unhurt but the wagon and harness were about ruined. The next morning the horse was sore and lame. Mrs. Turner had a lame stomach and Miss Yeaton had a lame shoulder, in fact they were pretty lame and sore all over. They had a very narrow escape from being crippled or killed.

BRYANT'S POND.

The Milk Question not yet Settled.

The price of milk is still a matter of contention here. It appears that an agreement was made between the farmers and dealers to deliver the milk in Portland for 3S cents per can of nine and one-half quarts, or practically four cents per quart. No fault is found with this, but many of the milk dealers furnish the cans in which the milk is sent that hold ten quarts which must be filled, and the returns come back, "market price of milk 3S cents per can." This fact shows for itself the justice or injustice of such a proceeding. Two cents on a can of milk is a very small matter you may say but there is a principle involved in this.

SOUTH WATERFORD.

At Echo Lake.

On Sunday, the 15th, Dr. Sylvester and family, Edward Whitney and son, Robert Whitney of Washington, D. C., brother and nephew of Mrs. Sylvester, with C. S. Whitney and wife and Granville Fernald invited guests, assembled at the Echo Lake cottage, the Sylvester summer residence, and spent the day in quiet enjoyment of the delightful weather and charming scenery.

About two o'clock dinner was served by the hostess, Mrs. Sylvester, and later came a course of ice cream and cake.

Mrs. Arvilla Whitney, widow of the late Edward K. Whitney, mother of Mrs. Sylvester, was present and in excellent health. She is past 80, has her mental faculties unimpaired, reads much of the best literature of the day and takes much interest in current events. I think Mrs. Whitney is probably the oldest native of Harrison. Her memory of events of her early days is very bright.

The potato crop is reported to be light but of good quality.

There were reports of frost last week but there was no damage of any importance to crops.

Mrs. Clara Sargent of Massachusetts is spending the autumn with her mother, Mrs. Chas. Perry.

Many big loads of sweet corn are going daily to the Harrison shop. The crop is a good one.

Dora Young is teaching piano to large classes of pupils here and at North Waterford. She is a fine player and a competent teacher.

Alice Hamlin entered upon her first term at the fall commencement at Kents Hill as preceptress and teacher of oratory and gymnastics.

Bear pond has been for weeks about six feet below high water mark. This week's copious rain fall is causing a perceptible rise in the water level.

Our Bear Mountain grangers are naturally much elated and really happy over the result of their prize competition at the County fair. I think it was quite unanticipated.

A steady all-day rain on Monday. On Tuesday much fog and threatening sky in the morning, clearing off and becoming warm and fine till about 3 o'clock when there came suddenly one of the severest showers of the year, continuing for half an hour and attended by lightning and thunder.

Glad to observe tokens of interest in the matter of good roads. As to that proposed road roller, how appropriate it would seem to precede it by the purchase of a stone breaker and use it for crushing a few thousand tons of granite boulders and stones covering the surface of the great thoroughfare by the margin of beautiful Norway Lake. Then the road roller might be used with immense benefit and success as a road improver. With respectful regards to the Board of Trade this message is submitted.

Jennie Hamlin has entered as a student of piano at the new conservatory of music in Boston. She is well known as a player of excellent ability and for some years past has devoted her skill and intelligence as a musician to all the varied purposes called for in her social sphere. As a faithful and competent director of the church choir, and pianist in the local orchestra, she has earned the sincere regard of a wide circle of friends who earnestly wish for her a high degree of success in the pursuit of her chosen profession.

NORWAY AND VICINITY.

A Historic Residence.

House of Norway's First Lawyer--Built in 1806--Recently Renovated and Repaired.

The property on the corner of Main and Whitman streets now owned by H. J. Bangs is closely connected with the early history of the town. It was here that Norway's first lawyer erected his house and lived, and where the second lawyer also lived later.

About 1789 the lot was purchased by William Gardner of Paris who built a house on the site of the present one.

Luther Farrar, Esq., Norway's first lawyer, bought the place in 1806 and built a two-story house on the same site.

This is the house now occupied by Mr. Bangs. Mr. Farrar came to Norway from Guildhall, N. H., in 1804. He did a large business. In 1806 he married Mercy A. Whiting of New Ipswich, N. H. Mr. Farrar was the first representative to the legislature, being elected the first time in 1805 and the last in 1809. He and his wife united with the Congregational church May 19, 1811. Levi Whitman came to Norway in 1811 and went into partnership with Mr. Farrar in the practice of law. Mr. Farrar died in the spring of 1812 and some time after, Mr. Whitman, Norway's second lawyer, married the widow and had the property.

The office which was built and occupied by Farrar and later by Whitman was on the site where O. P. Brooks' meat market now is. Mr. Brooks has a meat block in his shop which is a portion of a large tree cut on this lot many years ago.

Levi Whitman was a prominent lawyer and also elected as representative in 1814. The property fell to his son, Frank H. Whitman who sold it to William Frost, 2nd, grandfather of Judge William F. Jones. The property descended to William Frost's daughter, Kate Jones, Judge Jones' mother, who sold it to the present owner, Henry J. Bangs, in 1892.

Mr. Bangs has recently built the house over into a modern residence. The front veranda is finished with Ionic caps and colonnade bases. The work throughout the house is of the colonnade grille style. At the left of the front entrance are the double parlors and the library to the right. The dining room is finished in oak. A special stairway leads to the large hall on the second floor In all there are 15 rooms. The house is well finished inside and out. J. B. Hazen, contractor and builder, has had charge of the work and has done a good job.

Price Webber Gets Ovation.

The Lincoln Chronical says:—

The man that has been the Joe Jefferson and Denman Thompson of the Maine and Maratime stage, Price Webber, was in Lincoln with the Gold King at the auditorium, Wednesday night.

The audience that greeted Lincoln's oldtime favorite as he made his appearance before the footlights and the applause that burst forth even before Mr. Webber spoke a line showed conclusively the high esteem that our citizens have for the famous delineator of Rip Van Winkle. Mrs. Webber was given an ovation not a whit less heaaty when she made her appearance. She is well known in town, and many of the ladies are not only glad to see her as an actress of much skill, but also as a welcome visitor in their homes when time permits.

It is not the play that attracts, it is Price, the hero of many a scene in the mimic world behind the footlights. Price, the man that awakens from a long sleep of twenty years in Rip Van Winkle, and Price, the Irish comedian with the rich brogue that would make a true son of Erin turn green with envy. Mr. Webber has past the half century mark and his hair is whitening as the summers and winters come and go, yet his heart is as young as that of the youngest boy in the front seat.—We think that he will never grow old, only in years, for with that sunny smile and good word for hosts of friends, so characteristic of the man, how can age creep in?

Mr. Webber was born in the town of Brekham, Devonshire, England, in the year 1850. When he came to this country he was first employed in Halifax, then in St. John and later in Boston on the typographical staff of the Boston Daily News, now a memory in newspaperdom. The News at that time was backing Ben Butler which was regarded as something of a joke, but as he eventually won out it was quite a feather in this particular newspaper's hat.

For the last 32 years Mr. Webber has averaged to give 300 performances a year and during that time he has never missed being in the bill for each performance. Certainly a remarkable record. Twice in his life has he had his stage effects destroyed by fire and has had in consequence to make three starts in life in about 30 years. But with all this and other heavy expenses there is only one Price—the dean of the New England dramatic world, always seeming to express in every action that famous toast of Joe Jefferson's, "Here's to you and your friend and your friend's friend and may you live long and prosper."

About Shot Guns.

For duck shooting, the 10 gauge pump gun will be the most popular, although, of course, the double-barreled gun will still remain in use for this kind of work. For partridge work in the early part of the season, the 16 gauge double-barrel hammerless will be the gun, while in the latter part of the season the 12 gauge gun will have the call.

Early in the fall when the birds are mostly in the swampy land where the growth is very thick they can be obtained best with a small dog that will tree them and for such shooting a light gun is all that is necessary and does not tear the bird as a heavier one would.

Many hunters who have exaggerated ideas of sport disdain this sort of shooting but just the same it takes no little skill to follow up a bird in the thick brush, through bog holes and finally pick him out of the top of a thick fir or spruce. To make the chase more interesting good shots often go armed with nothing more than a 22 rifle, shooting the birds in the head.

Later in the season, after the leaves are well off and the partridges are seeking food and warmth on the ridges where the growth is more open and they can be shot over dogs in regulation fashion a 15 gauge is the accepted fowling piece.

Eva L. Shorey of Bridgton, who has just returned from a summer in Europe, has been secured by Commissioner Lyons of the bureau of industrial and labor statistics to act as special agent. She will devote her time to an investigation of the industrial conditions of the women wage workers of Maine.

WEST SUMNER.

Two Funerals One Day.

Fairfield Farrar passed away on the morning of Sept. 13. He had been in poor health for several years, and last winter he had the grip from which he never recovered, gradually failing through the summer, but was only confined to the bed two days. He was a patient sufferer. He leaves a widow by whom he will be so much missed but whose faithful care of him will always be a comfort to her. Three brothers and two sisters survive him: Harry, Washington and Jefferson Farrar, Mrs. G. W. Heath and Mrs. Delphinia Lowe, the latter of Malden, Mass., and many other relatives. The funeral was held in the Universalist church, Sunday, the 15th, at 1 30 p. m., Rev. Mr. Knickerbocker officiating. The flowers were in abundance from relatives, friends and neighbors. Interment at Buckfield.

Frederick Farrar passed away on the evening of Sept. 13th. He had been a sufferer for years with asthma and heart trouble. He was faithfully cared for till the last by his family, who will deeply feel their loss. Those who survive him are his companion for over 50 years, one daughter, Luella Farrar, and four sons, Walter, Carl, Ray and A. G. Farrar. All but Walter live at the homestead to comfort the bereaved mother. The funeral was held at the house, the 15th, at 10.30 a. m., Rev. Seth Benson of North Paris speaking words of comfort to every one. There were very many flowers, from many friends, which cover the grave in Pleasant Pond cemetery.

Although well advanced in years we do not remember of there ever being two funerals the same day before in our small place.

Dr. E. J. Marston has gone to Brewer, where his wife is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Sparks. They will return to Buckfield, their future home. We hear Mrs. Abbie Bates is going to assist them afterwards.

CASTORIA.

TUMORS CONQUERED

Overwhelming Proof that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Succeeds.

One of the greatest triumphs of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the conquering of woman's dread enemy Tumor,

The growth of a tumor is so insidious that frequently its presence is wholly unsuspected until it is well advanced.

So called "wandering pains" may come from its early stages or the presence of danger may be made manifest by excessive monthly periods accompanied by unusual pain, from the abdomen through the groin and thigh.

If you have mysterious pains, if there are indications of inflammation or displacements, secure a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, right away and begin its use.

The following letters should convince every suffering woman of its virtue, and that it actually does conquer tumors.

Mrs. May Fry, of 836 W. Colfax Ave., South Bend, Ind., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"I take great pleasure in writing to thank you for what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I also took the Blood Purifier in alternate doses with the Compound. Your medicine removed a cyst tumor of four years' growth, which three of the best physicians declared I had. They had said that only an operation could help me. I am very thankful that I followed a friend's advice and took your medicine. It has made me a strong and well woman and I shall recommend it as long as I live."

Mrs. E F. Hayes, of 26 Ruggles St., Boston, Mass., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"I have been under different doctors' treatment for a long time without relief. They told me I had a fibroid tumor, my abdomen was swollen and I suffered with great pain. I wrote to you for advice, you replied and I followed your directions carefully and today I am a well women. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound expelled the tumor and strengthened my whole system."

Mrs. Perry Byers, of Mt. Pleasant, Iowa, writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"I was told by my physician that I had a fibroid tumor and that I would have to be operated upon, I wrote to you for advice, which I followed carefully and took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I am not only cured of the tumor but other female troubles and can do all my own work after eight years of suffering."

Mrs. S. J. Barber, of Scott, N. Y. writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"Sometime ago I wrote you for advice about a tumor which the doctors thought would have to be removed. Instead I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and to-day am a well woman."

Mrs. M. M. Funk, Vandergrift, Pa., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"I had a tumor and Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound removed it for me after two doctors had given me up. I was sick four years before I began to take the Compound. I now recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound far and near."

Such testimony as above is convincing evidence that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound stands without a peer as a remedy for Tumor Growths as well as other distressing ills of women, and such symptoms as Bearing-down Sensations, Displacements, Irregularities and Backache, etc. Women should remember that it is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound that is curing so many women Don't forget to insist upon it when some druggist asks you to accept something else which he calls "just as good."

Mrs. Pinkham's Invitation to Women.

Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to write Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for advice. She is the Mrs. Pinkham who has been advising sick women free of charge for more than twenty years, and before that she assisted her mother-in-law, Lydia E. Pinkham in advising. Thus she is especially well qualified to guide sick women back to health.

Sent Tokens on Birthday.

The friends of Betsey Day sent her tokens of remembrance on her birthday, the 18th. Mrs. Mary Emery of Harbor and her cousin, Mrs. Q. Stevens and husband spent the day with her.

Miss Day has not stepped on the ground this summer. She is able to wait on herself most of the time which is a blessing to her. She cannot sew or knit, reads a very little each day from her "Daily Food," She has been an invalid for a number of years.

She has a brother who is very tender of her and looks out that she has everything that she needs. She seemed overjoyed to think she had so many friends to think of her in her lonely hours and sent many thanks to them in return. Those who sent her presents were:

Mrs. Mary Blake, Mrs. Ellen Gale, Mrs. Joseph Kimball, Maud Heald, Oscar Bemis—Tablecloth.
Mrs. Mary Emery—Oatmeal dish.
Mrs. Will Thompson—Towel.
Mrs. Mary A. Kimball—Box of several different articles.

Business is rushing with corn shoppers, early and late.

Joseph Kimball had the misfortune to lose one of his horses recently.

School has commenced at Union Hill, taught by Harold Andrews of East Conway, N. H.

William Lamb, daughter and husband, Mr. Titcomb of Westbrook visited at Joseph Kimball's.

Mrs. A. C. Andrews and Mrs. Q. Stevens shelled and canned 46 cans of garden beans one day recently.

Our National Danger.

Time to Cry a Halt Before a Panic Comes.

The business spirit is crushing out the sweeter element of home life. We are in danger of a great commercial decline, because men, as a whole, think only of getting wealth.

There are thousands, both men and women, who do not take time to eat properly. They rush through life, and as a result we have an age of indigestion nervousness, irritability, sleepless nights and morose disposition.

With the discovery of Mi-o-na tablets, there is no longer any excuse for one to have ill health from stomach weakness.

Mi-o-na strengthens the walls of the stomach, stimulates secretion of the digestive juices, regulates the liver and restores muscular contraction to the intestines and bowels, so no laxative is needed.

Sick headaches, palptation, bad taste in the mouth, yellow skin, irritability, coated tongue and melancholy are a few of the many distressing results of indigestion. Mi-o-na never fails to dispel all these troubles.

Frank Kimball, proprietor of the Noyes Drug Store, sells Mi-o-na in 50c boxes, and guarantee to refund the money if the remedy does not give complete satisfaction. 38-39

F. L. SHAW, PRESIDENT. 32-44

Maine's Hunting Season.

The opening of the hunting season for big game is very near now and those who usually take a hunting trip in the fall are asking each other about the plentifulness of game and what chance they stand of getting a big buck or doe, or may be a moose this fall, and if the birds are going to be plentiful.

Ordinarily the hunters would have to go into the woods and find this out for themselves, but now the fish and game department gets this information for them. The department aims to be accurate in everything it gives out and if it says game seems plentiful, it means just that.

The department can't promise every man who goes into the woods that he will get a deer. That is up to the hunter. From every indication noticed by the wardens who spend nearly all their time in the woods, and corroborated by people who have been camping and canoeing in the Maine woods this summer, game is just as plentiful this fall as it was five years ago.

Notwithstanding the deep snow and extreme cold of the winter the deer wintered very well and there are hundreds of husky young bucks and doe which came though the winter and are in the very best of condition this fall. The summer was wet and the deer had all the water they wanted in the swamps without coming out to the lakes and streams. Because of this not as many deer as usual were seen by canoeing parties during the summer, but the number seen indicates that the animals are plentiful.

Moose also are plentiful more of them than of deer having been seen in some localities. Young bulls seem more numerous than usual but few large bulls have been seen. The game has scattered since last fall, as it always does. The hunters find it that way every fall. When they go to a favorite locality where they found game very plentiful the year before they find it scattered. That doubtless will be the case this fall. The game is there, somewhere, just as plentiful as ever, but is moving around so that it seems to have gone.

It is the conditions of the weather more than the plentifulness of game that effects the hunting season in late years. With dry weather the game has the advantage of the hunter, for the deer and moose can hear the hunter when he is a long distance away and make themselves scarce before he gets within shooting distance. With wet weather to soak the underbrush and make easy traveling for the hunter it is not a hard proposition for anybody who is a good shot with a rifle to go into the woods and get a deer. The season of 1906 was a poor one, so far as the size of the game shipments were concerned, because of the dry weather and poor hunting conditions.

KEZAR FALLS.

Mrs. Ruth Norton is visiting friends in Saco.

Mrs. John Quint of Hotel Malvern has been on the sick list.

Guy Chellis of Boston has been spending a week with his brother, W. M. Chellis.

Mr. and Mrs. Knight of Cash's Corner and their little son have been the guests of Mrs. Knight's mother, Mrs. J. C. Emery.

Mrs. Peare was so poorly Sunday week that Rev. F. C. Porter supplied for Mr. Peare throughout the day. Beside the regular services there was a baptism in the afternoon in Spectacle pond.

It is one of the sights watching the concrete mixer perform its little "stunt." The new wheel will soon be lowered into the pit and it is hoped that the addition to the power house will be completed within the month.

High school on the north side has commenced with Miss Shaw of Bethel, principal, Mrs. Herbert S. Doe and Helen Wakefield, assistants. School on the north side of the village is taught by Mrs. Lilla Gentleman.

In the game, Friday, between the Kezar Falls and Thom's Invincibles, the score stood 11 to 3 in favor of Kezar Falls. Saturday in the game between Kezar Falls and the Limericks, the score stood 9 to 3 in favor of Kezar Falls.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Garner, Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Merrifield, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Bachelder and Dr. and Mrs. F. G. Devereux have returned from an outing to Sherbrooke, Canada. They also went to Quebec and viewed the ruins of the ill fated bridge.

Dr. Charles B. Bridgham.

Dr. Charles B. Bridgham, a wellknown physician of Cohassett, Mass., died of Bright's disease, Wednesday.

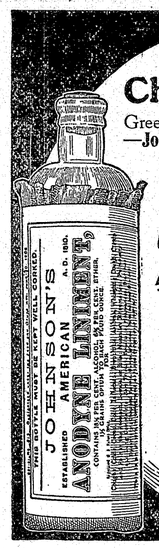

Mr. Bridgham was born in Buckfield, May 1, 1841. He was the son of Sidney and Lucretia (Shepard) Bridgham. For generations the male heads of this family had been physicians.

In the civil war he was enlisted before he had finished his medical course in 1861, as one of the famous Berdan's sharpshooters. He became a hospital steward while serving with that organization. He was taken a prisoner at the second battle of Bull Run, refusing to leave the wounded of his company which he was attending as acting surgeon. Later, having been exchanged, he was commissioned by Surg. Gen. Dale assistant surgeon in the 54th Massachusetts regiment, colored, under Col. Robert Gould Shaw.

He was married Mar. 22, 1864, to Addie Williams of Buckfield, who survives him. There are three surviving children—Paul C. Bridgham, Mrs. Mary Frances Bates, and Mrs. Ellen B. Withington.

Oculist.

Dr. Austin Tenney treats diseases of the eye by authority of the Maine State Board of Registration of Medicine and is authorized by said board to practice medicine in any and all of its branches anywhere in the State of Maine. Dr. Tenney is also a graduate of the Chicago college of Opthalmology and Otology and Post-graduate of the Chicago Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat college. The Doctor has attended both these colleges for the length of time necessary to earn a diploma from each and has had the benefits of actual eye, ear, nose and throat work, including modern surgery, such as it is impossible to obtain outside of our large city hospitals and free clinics. He invites any physician in Oxford county or elsewhere, who may be interested in eye work or have patients needing eye-treatment or glasses to call on him at any of his offices and make an investigation of his methods and the quality of his work. 39 41

WEST FRYEBURG.

A rainy Monday this week. Is it the beginning of the line storm?

Kate Hill of South Chatham, N. H., is spending her vacation of two weeks with relatives in Whitefield, N. H.

Mrs. S. J. Hutchins, who has spent several weeks in Conway, N. H., has returned to her home in this place.

Mr. and Mrs. G. T. Murkland of Malden, Mass., who were guests of Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Hill the past week, returned to their home in Malden on Saturday last.

County Commissioner Dean A. Ballard goes to Paris this week to meet the other members of the commission. He is expected to return to take in the West Oxford fair next week.

Most of the residents of this section have their corn hauled to the factories, the warm weather following the rain ripening the belated crop while the frost of the middle of last week caused less injury than might have been feared.

Mrs. Mary Walker will assist the young people at the Ballard homestead in the absence of their father on county business. Mrs. Walker is more than 70 years young and is more helpful and companionable than many far younger.

Andrew Hill, who has spent the greater part of the past summer in the Green Hill section which is his native place, returned to his home in Haverhill, Mass. last Saturday. He may be drawn this way again next week by the approaching fair.

Mrs. E. H. Heath of Green Hill and Mrs. A. Hartford of East Conway, N. H. are engaged in the cooking department of the fair this week. Two barrels of sugar, quantities of meat and other things according would indicate that mince pies, doughnuts, etc., preclude the fear of famine while those efficient matrons are in charge.

Several of the West Fryeburg people were summoned by telephone to assist the residents of Woodlawn during the fire on Wednesday last. So quickly did the flames spread that by mid-afternoon scarcely a trace of the beautiful and popular summer resort was to be seen. The fire was discovered about noon and nothing could be done to arrest the flames. Neighbors were active in rescuing furniture and wearing apparel though comparatively little could be saved.

The last three weeks of their stay was spent in Oxford. Mr. Smith is a civil war veteran. He enlisted in the 17th Maine and was wounded at the battle of Gettysburg. Mr. Smith was made a member of T. A. Roberts Post and Mrs. Smith a member of the Ladies Relief Corps.

During their stay, Sept. 21, the Post gave an informal reception. Mr. Smith attended the Jamestown Exposition, also the Masonic Conclave at Saratoga. Mr. and Mrs. Smith left, Tuesday, for their southern home and expect to reach Dublin, Saturday.

Josie Daniels spent Sunday with friends in Lewiston.

Mr. and Mrs. Newton Littlewood will leave about Oct. 1, to spent the winter with their daughter, Mrs. A. L. Faunce, of Somersworth, N. H.

The freeze, last week, ruined the gardens in this vicinity. The corn from the lowlands was nearly all in while that upon higher ground was not much hurt.

Stella Wilson left, Tuesday, for her home in Gray. She will remain with her parents until Oct. 1, then goes to Oakland to remain with Ernest Pratt's family for one year.

The woolen mill closed Wednesday and Thursday of last week to make some needed repairs about the boilers and incidently allowed the help to attend the Oxford County fair.

Work at the corn shop is in full blast. Corn is maturing fast and they were obliged to run the shop, Sunday, in order to take care of the corn. The industry affords many the opportunity to earn an extra penny and several from the village, including women and children, walk to shop nearly two miles and husk corn all day, returning to their homes at night.

Star, the black pacing mare owned by James Cook, won her maiden race at the Oxford County fair. The apparent ease with which she did her work and the fact that she improved the time every heat, would lead one to surmise she had quite a bit in reserve. The mark of 2.28½ which she took in the final heat does not detract a dollar from the mare's worth. Mr. Cook has without doubt a tidy bit of horse flesh and can, in the writer's opinion, pace a mile in 2.20 over any good mile track. With another year's age and careful training she ought to do the mile in 2.15 or 16, and win some money for her owner. We only wish she was a trotter with as good a gait as she has for the pace.
